

When God Walked into Our Broken Home

Sometimes, God sends help in the quietest of ways—through people who carry His love in their hands and hearts. This is the story of Bina Mech and how God used our palliative care team to bring light into her dark, broken world.

Bina's family was suffering in silence. Nobody really knew. But God did. One day, our church volunteer felt a strong burden in their heart. Moved by the Holy Spirit, the volunteer reached out to the palliative care team. The very next day, our team went to visit. Nothing could have prepared us for what we saw. Bina was lying weak and not fully conscious in a house that was falling apart. The air smelled of neglect, sadness and years of silent cries. Her young daughter, Tina, had left her school and childhood behind to become her mother's caregiver. Bina's husband was also addicted to alcohol. The home was filled with shouting, pain, and hopelessness.

But God wasn't finished with their story. Our team brought Bina to the hospital. Neighbors said, "Why are you taking her? She's going to die anyway." But we believed in something greater—we believed that God had a plan for this family. He had sent us for a reason. Little by little, Bina started to improve. Her eyes opened, her mind cleared, and slowly, life returned to her. When she was discharged, our team never let go. Through regular home visits, phone calls, and Constant prayers, we stayed with them. It was not just medical care—it was God's healing hand working through us.

And then, a miracle began to unfold. The house that was once full of fights became a home of peace. Bina began to smile, to laugh. Her husband started changing too. Tina went back to school. And Bina—our once frail and forgotten

Patient—now walks tall. Our team laugh with her and say, "You look healthier than all of us!" Bina speaks to her neighbors and friends about the dangers of alcohol. She uses her story to help others avoid the same path. She is no longer just surviving—she is testifying.

Her daughter Tina expressed to the team "I am so happy how all of you have helped my mother. If it wasn't for you all, I would have lost my mother forever. You didn't just save my mother—but healed my whole family. I thank you all for all your prayers and also for bringing God to us."

All glory to God, who writes the most beautiful stories from the most broken places
